Two Well-Known Students Withdraw

SAC lost two popular sophomore students last week when Wallace "Red" Johnson and Earl "Squirrel" Brite withdrew from college ranks.

The college was without a student president between the time Wallace, who had been acting in the position, resigned and the new council leader was elected.

Red's resignation became effective last Thursday when he officially withdrew from school because of a serious illness of his father. His withdrawal also eliminated his name from the ballot in the presidential race.

Brite, charging Ram halfback, withdrew because he, being a married man, says he has a living to make. He said if he could have had his way, he would have stayed.

TIME SET FOR CLASSES IN ENGLISH WORKSHOP

An English work shop, which will be held for the purpose of giving extra help to English students, will be scheduled Monday, Wednesday, and Fridays from 1 until 2 o'clock. P. C. Windsor, head of the English department, will be in charge.

The objectives of the course are to demonstrate the fundamentals of English, to offer much practice in the use of English, and to answer questions.

Miss Dora Kelly, English instructor, has volunteered to meet another such section on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturdays if enough students are available to make it worth while.

SAC Again Offers Night Classes

For the second year the college has put into effect a night class course of study affording opportunity for day employees to take college work.

These classes began last week during which time registration for the night training was being completed.

Courses being offered at present for night students are freshmen and sophomore English, business math, algebra, beginning Spanish, economics, government, commercial law, speech, psychology, and education.

Classes have already developed in freshman and sophomore English, typing, shorthand, accounting, and Spanish. A class in commercial law is expected to begin by Friday.

The instructor staff will consist of Mrs. Peck and Miss Elma Heard for English, Mr. Donald Jones for accounting, and Mr. Lewis Fraser for Spanish.

Dean P. E. Smith anticipates a hundred-student enrollment for the night classes. It is hoped that the college may, in the future, offer short courses to give concentrated training in one field of study without having the student commit himself for the full 18 weeks, Dean Smith said.

Goodfellow personnel will make up a large part of the classes. Already 34 airmen and officers have registered for training under the Air Forces Information and Education program.

Cost for the courses offered will be $15.00 per course plus a $2.00 registration fee for resident students. Students taking typing will pay an additional $2.00 typing fee.

Brown and Leonard Tie in Pres. Election; Run-Off Held Wed.

EASTMAN AND HOPKINS ALSO DEADLOCKED: OTHER OFFICERS NAMED IN FIRST VOTE

The heated Student Association election reaches its climax today with the runoff vote between Emory Brown and Frank Leonard in the president's race.

Also appearing on the runoff ballots are Rebecca Eastman and Davis Hopkins for the No. One freshman position on the student council.

In the initial election last Friday and Saturday, Wilbur McCannon was elected to the No. One position from the sophomore class. Red Cleckler was elected in the second sophomore position.

Wilburn George took the No. Three and Don Patton the No. Four position. Robert Ellis, Horace Edwards, and Pat Whitworth were voted in to the remaining three freshmen places.

Harry Wahn was eliminated from the runoff in the student president election by a close vote. Leonard

BROWN NAMED JUNIOR ROTARIAN OF MONTH

Emory Brown was last Friday named San Angelo College Junior Rotarian for October, replacing Fritz Loeffler who held the honor in September.

Emory attended the Rotary luncheon Friday along with Dr. John A. Guinn, president, who delivered an after-lunch speech concerning the building of dormitories at the college.

Brown, a SAC sophomore, is a G.I. student whose major is business administration and is well-known on the campus. His scholastic average is good, the dean's office reported.

Six SACsters Win Carr Scholarships

Six Angelo College students, three freshmen, and three sophomores have been awarded Carr scholarships for the coming year.

Included are Mary Elmore, Bill Blackwood, and C. P. Joiner, sophomores; and Tommy Massey, Don Goldston, and Ronda Edmondson.

Mary Elmore is well-known through her work in college social activities and the Ram Page. She held the editorship of the local high school Campus Corral while in high school. She was also a member of the student council. She is majoring in speech and education with plans to transfer to Texas Christian University.

C. P. Joiner is a business administration major. He plans to transfer to North Texas next year. He participated in high school sports and enjoys hunting as a hobby.

Bill Blackwood is a graduate of San Angelo High School. His major is pre-med and he intends to transfer to the University of Texas. He enjoys sports, especially table tennis.

Ronda Edmondson was a member of the Footlighters in High School. She enjoys reading as a hobby. Her major is business administration. Plans are to transfer to Texas University.

Don Goldston, a last year San Angelo High graduate, is at present majoring in Education. He hopes to transfer to T.C.U. His hobby is conchology.

Tom Massey played football last year at Lake View. In high school he also was a member of the choral club, senior play cast, and civic club.

PRESENTATION SET

The SAC band sweetheart, elected this week by secret ballot, will be presented for the first time Saturday night at the Ram-Tyler game, Band Director S. L. Sharpe has announced.

DORM PROJECT STILL IN 'WAITING' STAGE

Dormitories at San Angelo College are still in the "waiting hoping" stage, President John A. Guinn said last week.

The president said something must be done by November 15 concerning the proposed bond issue to pay for the building. If not, he fears they will not be completed in time for use next year.

He said he is hoping new developments almost any time. Dr. Guinn thinks that actual construction will have to start about Feb. 1 in order to complete the building before the 1950-51 fall term.

DOOLEY IS SCHEDULED SPEAKER AT JC MEET

Mr. R. B. Dooley, SAC agriculture instructor, will speak at the fifth annual Junior College Conference at Texas A&M College Oct. 16-19.

Dooley will speak on the subject, "Terminal Courses in Agriculture in Connection With Needed Facilities for (Lab and Field Lab) Animal and Dairy Husbandry."

The SAC instructor was asked to speak on the subject because of the fine progress made by the agriculture classes here.

Dr. John A. Guinn, president, will accompany Dooley to College Station. Representatives of most junior colleges throughout Texas are expected to attend the conference which is this year sponsored by the Dept. of Education of Psychology of Texas A&M.

The general purpose is to help standardize all junior colleges in regards to equipment and schooling and to convey ideas of the participants from one to the other in their individual proven fields.

OFFICERS TO APPEAR

Council members elected in student elections last week will be introduced to the student body Friday, Mr. Arnold A. Heyl, assembly chairman, has announced.

Heyl said each member would be allowed to express himself and explain just what he intends to do for the good of SAC.

BULLETIN

Emory Brown was elected to the council presidency over Frank Leonard by a final ballot count of 119 to 99.

piled up 83 votes. Brown received 65, and Wahn 55. Harry said, "I guess the best men won. I only wish to thank everyone who voted for me."

Campaigning reached its peak this week in the presidential election. Both candidates had pledged themselves to clean campaigns, setting the pattern for closer, and cleaner elections in the future. Both have stuck faithfully to their platforms. And both have made no bones about what their platforms are.

Brown's is: (1) The formation of an independent men's and women's organization. (2) The formation of an advisory board with representatives from fraternities, sororities, and the independent organizations to act as an advisory staff to the student council. (4) An active students' association. (Continued on page 4)

STUDENTS GIVEN COPIES OF INFORMATION RULES

General distribution of Information Regulations from the Dean's office took place at SAC last week. Each student was given a copy of the regulations which had been approved by the faculty.

The college requests each student to keep this set of regulations available for future reference at various times throughout the year.

The regulations give detailed information in regards to class attendance and promptness, conduct — both on and off campus — lost and found, scholarship requirements, smoking, student activity fee, and the social calendar.

Special emphasis was placed on rule 2 of the attendance regulation, which deals with promptness for filing absentee excuses.

With the cooperation of the student body in observing and carrying out these rules set forth by the faculty, everyone will have a part in helping to make San Angelo College a better school, Dean Smith said.

Spooning in Three Easy Lessons

Two women were leaning over the back yard fences. "My goodness," said one of the motherly souls, "Just what is this younger generation coming to? Last night I saw Mary Jones and John Doe in an automobile sparking! Right in plain sight!" The other shook her head sadly.

One moment please, mothers. Hold up a bit.

In a not-too-late issue, the Ladies Home Journal magazine explored the subject of the younger generation quite thoroughly. It found several things, some undesirable and exceptional, and some not generally accepted as desirable but nevertheless generally accepted.

Some of the findings stack up like this:

First and foremost, necking as it is called in the north, "courting" as we know it, is all a part of the boy-girl relationship. But you don't just climb in a car and start right off — no sir!

The investigation, in which youngsters on high school and college campuses were interviewed all across the nation, showed that it is untactful for a boy to be allowed a goodnight kiss the first night. The second date, the boy is allowed the "parting is such sweet sorrow" smack.

On the average, the reporters found that it was about the third or fourth date before the sparking, courting or necking began. After that, they found most youths use good common sense and good judgment. Teenagers, the article said, usually know when they are nearing the "too far" mark. Through respect for each other, they have tact enough to slow down a bit to let the "storm" they have "courted up" rain out its fury.

On the whole, the article was complimentary and confident of the so-called lost younger generation. The magazine said the notably "bad" examples were "strays" as you might find in any group any time of history.

According to the article, the respectable girl does not step out of these bounds. If she gives over to necking the first night, she soon finds herself on a lower level than she likes. So she waits until the third or fourth date!

It is doubtful the magazine checked matters on the Concho. That is a fact. But it did get representation from the eastern part of Texas. Regardless of whether the rules fit here or not, the above is what the magazine found. Be your own judge.

A Tree Grows at SAC

"Eyesores" is an age-old editorial subject. An editorial concerning the SAC campus cannot justly point at any eyesores here. On the contrary, it must compliment the school for its spic and span new look.

The matty green lawns look clean-swept at all times. Loose paper, as even the best of us often let loose, is a rarity on the campus grounds. The flowers out front add to the friendly surroundings.

The only noticeable lack is trees. And they are on the way. No one can set out a tree and grow a miracle — as the Drakers, no doubt, will claim they have done.

All in all, grounds superintendent Mark Gray, and his maintenance force, and the administrative heads who saw need for such a force, should be commended. We believe that nowhere in Texas will you find a cleaner campus with fewer so-called eyesores.

Advantages of In-Towners Listed

To attend college and still spend the time near one's home is a great advantage. A student can settle down at once to concentrated study instead of spending weeks getting adjusted to the confusion of living among strangers whose new ways of behavior are sometimes hard to accept.

There is much comfort in the feeling that townspeople are all familiar and that one can, without wasting time inquiring and deciding on which — get good efficient service for any need that arrives.

Students learn much from new acquaintances and from new experiences, it is true. But it seems to take a full half semester for young students to become accustomed to unsupervised study hours and class attendances. It is really a big problem for them to get the most out of all the college has to offer and at the same time fit themselves into a new way of living.

Boys and girls just finishing high school would do well to take on only a part of this problem at once. They will find it wise to stay in familiar surroundings while they begin their college work. Later, when college classes have become just routine, they may decide to enroll in out-of-town schools.

SAC offers to the young people of West Texas this opportunity to begin their college careers in familiar surroundings. The friendly atmosphere and small classes are an inducement to study.

Student Spirit Is Essential At SAC

It should be remembered at all times during social and school functions that the spirit of San Angelo College be utmost in our minds.

It is a known fact that many deciding outcomes of activities, whether it be in sports or in the production of a certain commodity, depends upon the spirit of the doers.

Wars are even determined to a large extent on the spirit of troops. In regards to our present times, the merger unification program has greatly reduced the morale and spirit of the U.S. Navy.

Unless we wholeheartedly support our college, the outcome of the school will hang from a thin thread, in both sports and other activities.

Support those whom we elect in every possible way so that we can, instead of finding fault, contribute to constructive atmosphere. Instead of condemning something we dislike, we should think of how we would have acted had we been in the shoes of the officer.

If you do this, perhaps you will see the whole matter differently. If you have your own ideas about certain functions, tell them to your student representatives. They will be appreciated.

Above all, let's make the spirit of San Angelo College echo and re-echo through the state of Texas.

As Battle Of Sexes Goes On, The Men Invade Home Ec

By Barbara Roberts

Beards and boots are slowly invading the home economics classes! Seated among the girls are young men who are interested in professional home economics and social ethics.

However, not only do these boys gain much from their classes, but they also inspire much interest on the part of the lucky girls enrolled with them! And, contrary to belief, these boys are not merely trying to obtain some easy credits because the work is not easy. Extensive laboratory work is required, and for those majoring in home making, free time is limited.

Registered in the foods class is James Simmons, who aspires to be a successful dietician, preferably in a veterans hospital. (He wants no women interfering.)

The social ethics class, which is highly recommended for those majoring in business administration, contains the following young men: Robert Kinsley, James Jackson, Robert Ellis, Bobby Gabert, Bob Billington, Bobby Zetzman, Aubrey Burman, Gerald Burrow, and Bob Armstrong.

So you see, just as women have invaded men's fields, so also have the men turned their interests to a strictly woman's field. Who will win!

PINBALL RANKS FIRST

Some boys come to school to get an education, some boys come to school to play football and get an education, some boys come to school to be prominent in social life and get an education; and some boys come to school to play PINBALL machines!

Too, it seems as these athletes have quite a tournament going full force now. However, funds have not been appropriated for letter jackets for the winners.

HOW'S YOUR ETIQUETTE?

Laws and rules are passed every day and here are the latest amendments to the constitution of etiquette:

"Howdy" is the new word used in SAC instead of "Hi."

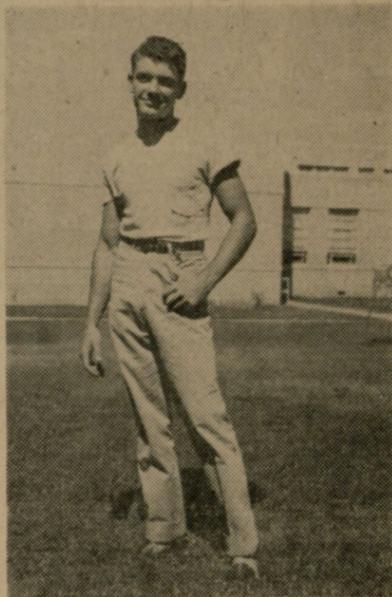

Handshaking when introduced will make the person feel more at ease and will give him something to do besides just saying a feeble "How do you do." The girl extends her hand and the boy accepts immediately.

Dancing with cigarette in hand is out of the question.

Even though it is customary for the boy to walk on the outside of the sidewalk when walking with a girl, it is all right for a boy to walk between two girls in order that both girls may share his conversation and vice versa.

BLUNDER OF THE WEEK: Two girls in Friday's assembly playing with a football-shaped red purse while a very important and interesting speech was being made.

Introducing—

BOBBY POYNOR

Bobby Confesses His Shyness Is A 'Size' Complex

Many people have thought of me as being stuck-up at times. But it is not that at all, for this is brought about by an inferiority complex.

I guess my small size has caused this great menace, but I have tried many ways to overcome it. A speech course in high school helped a lot to give me some confidence and I also took part in two of the main high school plays last year.

My dislikes are few, and outside of snobs and big bullies, the list is very small. I like all foods, especially salads, meats, vegetables, and anything else which the average person eats. I could listen to music for the rest of my days. Boogie Woogie, popular, or classic. It doesn't matter what kind of music, as long as it is music. Art work rates very high with me, for I love to paint.

My life has not been any different from that of the ordinary boy. I was born in McCamey, Texas, on September 17, 1931, and went through grade school and junior high school there. I graduated from San Angelo High School. I plan to graduate from SAC, then transfer to Southwestern in Georgetown.

English Conference To Be Held Here

An English teachers' conference, called "Conference for the Integration of High School and College English," will be held October 28 and 29 at the San Angelo Colleg Auditorium, Mr. P. C. Windsor, head of the San Angelo College Department, has announced.

The meeting, which will be attended by high school and college teachers from some 13 counties in and around Central and West Texas, has for its purpose the establishing of better relations between English Departments in high school and college and the making of an effort at solution of common problems.

Miss Laura Barfoot has planned a very interesting program which is divided into three sessions. The first will be Friday afternoon, the second the night of the same day, with the third and last one Saturday morning.

The San Angelo College English Department is sending special invitations to all English teachers in this area and a special effort will be made to entertain them while they are here.

Dr. Cleo McChristy is the president of this organization.

Behind the Headlines

By Norman Spray

There is talk of a major change in your Ram Page. That does not go for news policies or taste. Just a little more about the same with, perhaps, a little added flavor.

The change is a larger paper. We have discussed with the printer the idea of going from tabloid to a conventional size newspaper. Either that or running six pages of the present size.

He agrees to do it for us, a little later. But because he is installing a new press at his shop, and making some changes in his staff, he can't get around to it right off hand.

Here's How

Joe Harrell, our industrious business manager, is one of the large factors in leading us to believe we can put out the larger paper. He has sold advertising to many of the big and worth-while business houses in town. Advertising, we believe, will finance half of the expense involved. If someone will just squeeze the purse strings for the other half.

We think we can fill the space. There are good loyal reporters now on the staff who turn in lots of good stuff and can turn out more. But you are a potential news source.

When we make this jump, the emphasis is going to be on more student news. You are the students. It stands to reason, then that you are a good source for news. No matter how large or small the item, you'll find us receptive.

SUGGESTIONS WANTED

If you have a bit of news, whether you want to write it yourself, or whether you merely want to pass the information on to some Ram Page staffer, it will receive careful attention. Don't underestimate news. The supreme test: will it interest students?

If you think so, no matter how small the item, drop it around at the Ram Page office. A news suggestion box is being placed in the publication office for your convenience. Please don't forget to sign your name to suggestions dropped in. The policy of the paper dictates that all news must come from authoritative sources. If you do not want your name mentioned, we will respect your confidence in so far as good reportage is possible.

Remember! If you want to see a bigger and better Ram Page in the future, support our advertisers. Buying in their stores is the surest way!

The Tatler

By Mary Elmore

A tight rope walker was one of the main attractions at the picnic Wednesday. Philip Cooper, SAC student, attempted to go across the river on a wire cable. He walked most of the way on his hands. As everyone was breathlessly watching, his hands gave way, and he fell in.

"Come on in! The water's fine," Philip yelled. Taking him at his word were Don Patton, Bob Gallagher, and Nelson Roach.

Little Theatre members and prospective members will meet Wednesday night at 7 o'clock. New members should have a stunt, monologue, or characterization ready to present. The stunt must be at least three minutes long.

Dues for the Little Theatre will be $1 per semester. A fine of 10 cents for the tardiness and 15 cents for absence will be charged.

Looks like new homes are in style for two members of the administration. Dr. John Guinn, president, has bought a home at 809 Austin. He had been living at 224 South Bishop.

Harold Barnes, public relations, has moved from 2218 Houston to 1621 W. Concho. His new telephone number is 5777-2.

MRS. WESTERMAN SPEAKS AT MEET

Mrs. Marl A. Westerman, home economics instructor, attended the executive meeting of the Texas Home Economics College Club October 1, at Mary Hardin Baylor College.

The purpose of the meeting was to complete the plans for the annual workshop to be held in November at Sam Houston State College, Huntsville.

Mrs. Westerman spoke to the students at the chapel hour Saturday on "Abundant Living Depends on Home-makers."

The Baylor Homemaking club also honored the delegates with a coffee and luncheon.

Mary Louise Schuch, a former SAC student, is vice-president of the state organization.

Rodeo Club To Be Organized At SAC

Frank Smith, Jack Ruttle, and Paul Heiser have begun ground work toward organizing a rodeo club at San Angelo college.

Membership is open to both girls and boys. The only requirement is that members must be interested in rodeos. The group plans to elect a team to participate in intercollegiate rodeos.

The organizers said if enough SAC-sters are interested and join the club, a square dance team on horseback might be organized. There will be regular roping and barrel racing teams.

Those wishing to join should grab their hats and spurs and contact either Ruttle, Heiser, or Smith.

Pledges Announced By Lambda Tau's

The Lambda Tau sorority met Tuesday night, Oct. 3, in the home of Jan Spalding for the purpose of pledging new members.

The Lambda Tau oath was given to all new pledges by president Nellie Toles. Pledges who took the oath were Eugenia Farmer, Esther Allen, Nelda Sheppard, Pat Stroup, Jean Copeland, Wanda Cook, Peggy McDonald, Sara Baker.

Rebecca Eastman, Marilyn Tabor, Dorothy Haynie, Mary Ellen McKenzie, Bobbie Brumley, Nancy Hardin, Carolyn Honea, Joanne Calhoun, Dee Wilbanks, Glenda Reece, Pat Fountain, Jeannie Young, Hootie Rutledge, Maryo Conerly, Robert Ann Keys, Jewel Erwin, and Sue Price.

Members who were present were Nellie Toles, Betty Serface, Lyndal Manning, Teena McMullen, Abby Mee, Margaret McComb, Carlene Lee, Imogene Wheeler, Christelle Dunway, Mary Kathryn Johnson, Jan Spalding, Marie Manitzas, Sue Workman, and sponsor, Miss Kelly.

Candidates Jump To Serve Public

Campaigning ran amass at the annual fall picnic at Christoval last Wednesday, Oct. 5, when the food ran with about about 65 hungry students yet unserved.

Candidates for office jumped into action, however, and within two hours, the entire line had been served.

The picnic was termed a general success by committee chairmen and those responsible for the program, despite the lack of "chow."

Harry Wahn served as master of ceremonies during the political speeches and various entertainments throughout the morning. All candidates helped serve and clean up the grounds.

Fancy jitter bugging by Emory Brown and Delores Wilbanks won for them the dancing contest. Jean Dedman walked away with the pie eating prize—which consisted of a big chocolate pie. David Jones and Hootie Rutledge found it smooth sailing in the apple eating contest. Everyone else was disqualified.

NOMINEES PRESENTED

Band members voted by secret ballot Monday morning for this year's Band Sweetheart. The results will be known when she is presented in an appropriate program at a home game in the near future.

Band sweetheart nominees, as they were presented in assembly Friday morning, are Maryo Connerly, Pat Sheen, Louise Gayer, Barbara Roberts, Marilyn Tabor, Nancy Hardin, Gwen Raimey, and Ima Jeanne Payne.

Unveiling of the band sweetheart will be an outstanding feature at the designated time. Band director Sharpe stated that he wished to make this a "big affair" acknowledging each nominee.

The band sweetheart has no further functions other than marching with the college band of which she is a great respected asset.

BEST IN ASSEMBLIES EXPECTED FROM HEYL

There'll be gladness, sadness, and gadness in the forthcoming assemblies this semester.

Some are to be the faculty, some to be the students, and some to be the talent from the outside world. Whatever they may be, they will be entertaining, interesting, and educational. Mr. Heyl, assembly chairman, is striving for the best.

CALLES SENDS REGARDS

Arnoldo Calles of Chihuahua, Mexico, former student of SAC, visited another SAC student, Caroliana Farias, at the Hotel Victoria recently. Caroliana was given a free trip with all expenses paid to Chihuahua after being elected queen of the September fiesta, held in San Angelo by the Latin-Americans.

Arnoldo immediately asked about all of his SAC friends and said he would like to come over to give SAC a visit. He explained that he had so much work on his ranch and that he is still doing some bullfighting on the side as a hobby, or he would still be enrolled at SAC.

Sigma Alpha Chi's Announce Pledges

A meeting of the Sigma Alpha Chi's was held Tuesday night, Oct. 3, in the home of Mrs. M. Berry for the purpose of instructing new pledges.

Margie Hurbert, president, administered the oath to the new pledges and gave them their pledge ribbons. Pledges who took the oath were Mary Nunn, Jo Moore, Pat Whitworth, Sawyer Pearson, Glenda Williams, Maurine Vichers, Darlene Jones, Jean Massey, Mary Lou Garrett, Barbara Patterson.

Sally Eisenbeck, Pauline Haverland, Wanda Beckham, Mary Jane Loundsberry, Kim McClathrey, Marguerite Parks, Bobbie Rainwater, Jo Ann Kneppshield, Virginia Pearse, Gwen Ramey, Jeanne Payne, Prestine Davis, Mary Smith, and Neva Martin.

Members who were present were Barbara Roberts, Wanda Schaffer, Mary Northcutt, Rilla Darst, Pat Sheen, Doris Tucker, and Margie Herbert.

Mr. V. R. Gunn, SAC psychology instructor, got a chance to see psychology in the making Wednesday.

He had scheduled a test for the 10 o'clock class. But he got mixed up and brought to class answer sheets belonging to another section.

"We just can't have the test," he said. He got a horse laugh.

"COUNTRY" OLSAK
Assistant Ram Mentor

Olsak Fills Hopkin's Shoes As Ram Ass't

By Johnny Franklin

During Mr. Clayton Hopkin's illness, the job of assistant coach for the Rams is being filled by the amiable, able, Clovis (Country) Olsak. Mr. Olsak is a native of San Angelo, married to an Angelo girl, (No little Olsaks yet) and is one swell guy to know.

In 1942, "Country" entered Texas A&M with an athletic scholarship, and attended until 1943, when he had to leave because his father needed help on his stock farm.

He played football for the San Angelo Bobcats in high school, the Rams in 1946, and softball for the state championship "Electric Service" team in the summer of the same year. While at SAC, he received a letter in track.

In 1947, Clovis re-entered A&M where he served as Freshmen football coach, played a lot of baseball, but did not play football for the Aggies because of a conference rule which governs the length of time a player may be away from a school before re-entering.

In 1949, Clovis graduated from A&M with a degree in Animal Husbandry.

When Mr. Hopkins returns to SAC, Clovis will exercise his major by instructing the veterans vocational agriculture night school which will begin sometime in the near future.

125 AREA TEACHERS DUE FOR CONFERENCE

About 125 superintendents, principals, and men school teachers will meet on the SAC campus for a district schoolmaster's conference sometime this month, President John Guinn has announced.

The 1949 World Series is over with Sasey Stengel's New York Yankees copping four out of five games. It was the Yankees twelfth World Championship win and it should be noted that the Yanks overcame almost insurmountable handicaps before they were even in the play-off. The scores were 1-0, 0-1, 4-3, 6-4, 10-6.

Along these lines a great deal of credit goes out to Lefty Joe (Reliever) Page for his relief efficiency to bring games out of the fire.

The opening game of the series was highlighted by superb pitching on the part of Allie Reynolds, Yankee fireballer, and Don Newcombe, the Brook's ace, also by the "Case of Wheaties" homer-off-the-bat of Tommy Henrich, which accounted for the one winning run. Score, 1-0, Yanks.

The second game evened the series out with the Bums winning 1-0. Good pitching once again dominated with Preacher Roe shading out Vic Raschi. Jackie Robinson, the fleet footed Dodger Negro, produced the winning run.

Joe Page relieved Tommy Byrne in the ninth and was accredited with a close 4-3 decision over the Dodgers' speed baller, Ralph Branca. This time big Johnny Mize unloaded the blow that broke up the ball game.

Hitting was predominant in the fourth game, with the Yanks out-slugging the Brooks by a 6-4 margin. Ed Lopat got credit for the victory, but Allie Reynolds turned in a superb relief role. "Golden Boy" Bobby Brown was the outstanding Bomber slugger of this one.

The Yankees closed Ebbetts field the fifth game with a 10-6 final win.

SWJC STANDINGS

In the Southwest Junior College conference this week there should be little change in the standings when the smoke clears away, with Tyler, Kilgore, and Lamar, the three untied, undefeated leaders facing not-too-strong opposition. Tyler will meet the San Angelo Rams. Lamar engages winless Paris, and Kilgore will have it out with a weak Arlington State team. The other conference activity matches Schreiner with John Tarleton.

Hot Elections Set

tion. (5) A name band at SAC one time during the year. (6) Aid in the growth of SAC.

Leonard stands on a four-point platform: (1) School spirit. (2) Establishment of traditions such as competition between classes, sororities, and fraternities, tree plantings, after-the-game dances, etc. (3) Better managed social functions, such as site of functions, dependable social committee, less restrictions which will stimulate interest in these functions, (4) a strong inter-fraternity council.

In explaining his points, Brown said, "Colleges have independent men and women's organizations to stimulate interest in school activities sponsored by organizations other than fraternities and sororities. San Angelo College, as far as I know, has never had such an organization. Obviously, not everyone can belong to a fraternity or sorority. They need some method of expressing themselves as a group concerning the administration of school functions."

Brown says the formation of an advisory board with representatives from the social organizations would be of great aid to the student council in the formation of policies governing student activities. It would express what the students want.

He thinks the student association, if active, could push the growth of SAC, such as the present dormitory project. "And if I am elected," he says, "I will do my utmost to see that the association is very active."

About his pet project, the name band, Brown assures that it can be had, if the students want it.

In turn, Leonard wishes to let his platform explain itself. "The platform should prove to you that I am for you as individuals, rather than a mass of people. I want to work to make the school one run by the voice of the students and in turn one the students will be proud of and other colleges will respect."

"I have attended Texas University where some 18,000 students are enrolled. Their school spirit is better than that of any school in the Southwest. I want to put some of their principles to work here."

Leonard is assistant manager of the Parkway Theatre. "But I will quit my job if necessary in order to do the council presidency up right if I am elected," he says. "I want everyone to know that I am serious. This is no part-way name-building affair with me. Too much of the electioneering around here has been done in fun. I say the better the spirit, the more students, the bigger the school, and the smaller the tuition. It just goes around in a circle that gets bigger and bigger. If we don't drum up some life, we are going to lose everything we've got. It's coming up, but we need guidance."

Brown was graduated from Abilene High School, Leonard from Woodroe Wilson in Dallas. Both live here now. Brown served six years in the Army, three as a radar technician, three as an Army Air Force pilot. Leonard was for three years a Navy pilot.

Both have attended schools elsewhere. Brown has attended Texas Western and Texas Tech. Leonard has attended Texas U., Tulane, and Mississippi. Leonard's major is mechanical engineering; Brown's, business administration. Brown is co-owner of the Roto-Rooter Service Co. Both have pledged themselves to take ample time to do the president's job right if elected.

Spirited Ram Eleven Romps Over H.-S. Freshmen, 19-14

By Aureilo Ramirez, Jr.

The San Angelo College Rams scored their second victory of the season Friday night at Bobcat Stadium by walking off with a 19-14 win over the Hardin-Simmons Freshmen from Abilene.

In so doing, the Rams had to overcome a 14-13 half-time score after the lead had exchanged hands twice in the first half.

With Boyce Whitefield's punting keeping the Buttons from Hardin Simmon's back to their own goal line, the Rams scored first when they drove 44 yards in nine plays for the tally. Fred Hickman highlighted the drive with a 17-yard run and Tommy Gray plowed over for the score from the one. Earl Shahan converted to send it up to 7-0 with five minutes to go in the opening period.

The visitors made a serious threat before scoring by driving from their own 7 to the Ram 5 before losing the ball on downs when a Charlie McGuire to Richard Stanfield pass fell incomplete on fourth down. Not to be denied, the Buttons drove right back on the first play after Whitefield punted out on the Ram 30, McGuire passed to Don Mounger for 30 yards and the score. Weldon Boggus, captain and all-state guard of last year's Monahan's state champions, tied it up with his conversion.

The Abilene freshmen scored three minutes later with a Ram fumble on their own 23, setting up the score. Prechard and Malouf carried to the 15 from where Malouf hit off tackle and went all the way. Boggus converted to send it up to 14-7.

The Rams then drove the ensuing kick-off 73 yards with Fritz Loeffler driving over from the one. Shahan's try for the extra point was wide to leave it at 14-13 at half-time.

The locals then went on to win the game in the first five minutes of the second half by driving 61 yards in ten plays for the pay-off touchdown. Richard Harvey passed to Eddie Mee for the final 31 yards. Shahan's try was again wide to leave it at 19-14.

From then on, the Rams, displaying good tackling, held off several Button threats including one in the waning moments of the game when Cox fumbled into McGuire's hands on Holland's punt, to the Ram 47. The Freshmen drove to the Ram 18 where Hickman caught Belly Rapp on a fourth down try which fell a yard shy of a first down.

Rambling Rams

By John Hobaugh

The football team, I notice, was doing a lot of training, especially at the SAC picnic held at Christoval last Wednesday. There was Bob Gallagher and Billie Bob Herron trying to eat an apple from a string. If either one of the two would put out as much exertion on the football field as he did trying to win a contest of eating an apple, Mr. Sikes would have no worries.

Then there was, of all people, Pete Hickman. If he could skirt around the opponents ends as fast as he slipped that chocolate pie down his goozler, Pete would really stack up some points for the Rams.

I saw Mr. Masterson eating a Jam sandwich at the picnic. Two pieces of the bread jammed together. Mr. Masterson should go in for wrestling. Tommy Gray will have to line up five yards behind the line of scrimmage after being one of the first in the line to get his Bar-B-Q at the picnic to keep from being off sides. His stomach really did bulge.

By the way, the president of the college spoke to me the other day. He did not call me any names but he did say "Howdy." Mr. Gunn is the absent-minded professor for the week. He counted my wrong answers instead of my right ones in a test in Education Monday. Let's watch that, Mr. Gunn.
