Regents Grant Leaves

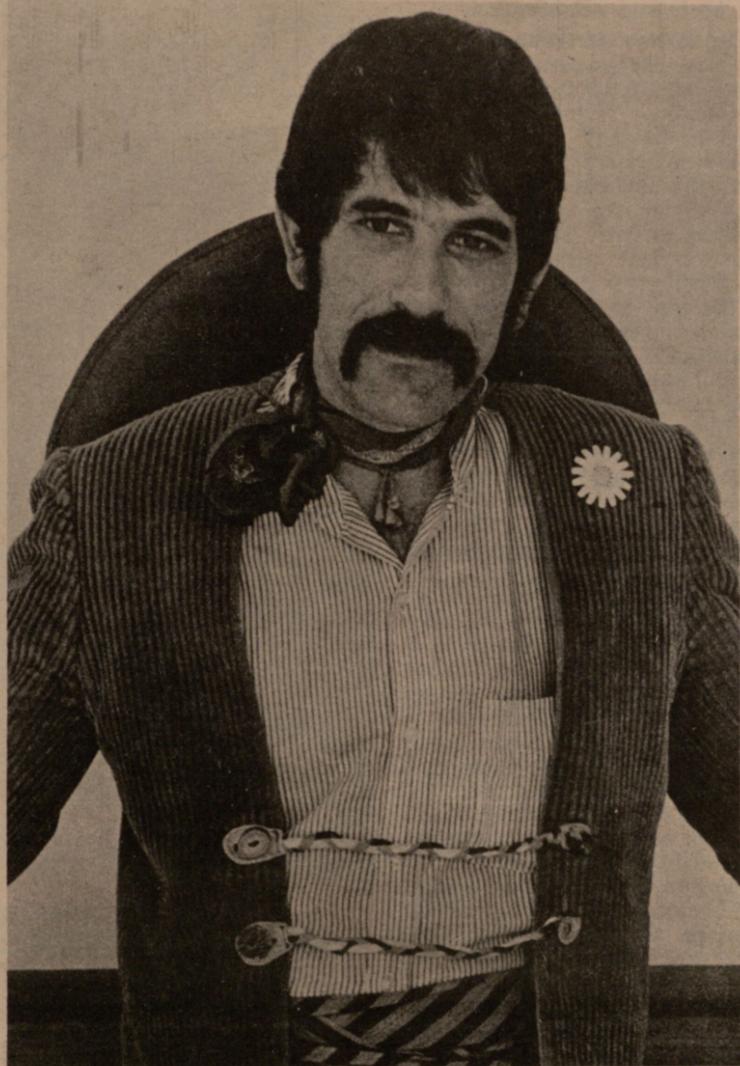

APPROVAL of leaves for two ASC faculty members and appointment of a new chairman for the local committee of the Board of Regents, State Senior Colleges, marked Friday's meeting of the committee.

Leaves were granted for Raymond Carver, head of the fine arts department, and Ralph Randolph, history instructor and admissions officer. Carver and Randolph will work toward completing their doctoral degrees.

Appointed new local committee chairman was Jerome Johnson, Amarillo attorney. Johnson, a 1952 graduate of the University of Texas law school, is a partner in the law firm of Wilson, Sutton, Heare and Berry. He has been a member of the firm for 15 years and a senior partner for 10 years. In addition, he has been on the Board of Regents of Amarillo College for the past eight years. He replaces Judge Clayton Heare of Amarillo.

Two other regents were also appointed at this time. Dee J. Kelly and Bernard G. Johnson will replace retiring committee members Dr. Jose San Martin of San Antonio and Ottis Locke of Lubbock.

Kelly graduated from Texas Christian University in 1950 and (See Regents, Page 4)

Election Statutes Are Passed By Unanimous ASCSA Vote

MEMBERS of the Student Congress passed into law a new statute controlling the use of signs, posters and handouts during ASC elections at their meeting this week.

A committee was appointed from within Congress members to study and research the area of signs and formulate proposals for governing campaign procedures to be presented to the Congress as a whole.

Following weeks of study and discussion of the proposals before the Congress at several past meetings which resulted in reconsideration and rewriting of some sections, the proposals were passed unanimously.

Mike Barron chaired the committee, backed by members Richard Gwyn, Jerry Johnston and Frances Pietzch. Barron stated their purpose as being to recommend sign types and placement restrictions pertaining to all elections other than honorary positions such as Homecoming Queen and Mr. and Miss ASC.

The first new rule states that no campaign material of any type may be placed on the exteriors of any building on campus including all office and classroom buildings, dormitories, Student Center and Library.

No signs will be permitted on any painted surface or non-glazed tile and no material of any type is allowed inside the Porter Henderson Library.

No signs or posters will be allowed on the glass doors leading to the Student Center. This includes the main door, north entrance and double doors. The provision also applies to the new food service center.

Signs along the mall area must be fastened to 1" by 2" stakes and may not exceed 10 feet in height. These signs may be placed on the outside perimeter of any sidewalk but are not allowed in the area occupied by plants or lighting fixtures.

No campaign material is to be affixed to any lighting structure or to sidewalks or patios including tape or paint of any type. Material can go up no sooner than 5 days before election and must be removed by the campaigner or his staff within 2 days following the election.

The types of campaign material approved include signboards to be placed along the mall not exceeding 4' by 8' in size, posters fastened to stakes in areas outlined above, and handouts, car leaflets and tags.

The new statute was passed unanimously by the Congress. Also at Monday's meeting Bobby Peiser, security head, was on hand for a question-and-answer session concerning parking.

David Dix, director of the new food service center, is scheduled to appear at the meeting early next semester for a similar session. Another current project of the Student Association is sponsoring the appearance of the Baja Marimba Band in the San Angelo Coliseum Jan. 31.

High-Rise Organizes Govt. Council

By EMPRESS McFARLAND
Ram Page Reporter

NEW ON the Angelo State campus is a Women's Residence Hall Council made up of four girls from each of the eight floors in the girls' dorm.

Representatives are Joyce Baker, Judy Hogan, Empress McFarland, Jo Ann Burns, Ruby Williams, Durelle Branson, Frances Peitzsch, Margo Santiago, Sandra Apple, Lauretta Hurt, Martha Jordan, Cindy Williams, Lynn Arnold, Lolita Miller, Norma Payton, Cathy Smith, Joan Doyle, Jennifer Henson, Kay Matlock, Sara Trigg, Janice Coleman, Karen Kelley, Jeanine Kunkel, Janice Sutton, Jane Fargo, Cynthia Fry, Sharon Hicks, Elizabeth Turner, Becky Hanson, Kay Houston, Nadine Pentecost, and Louise Wilkinson. Sponsors are Miss Ruth Reidy, women's residence hall director, and Mrs. Maxine Brown, Dean of Women.

The 32 representatives were elected before Christmas and have had one meeting. The constitution committee that was formulated at the first meeting has been working to establish a constitution that will fit the needs of ASC girls living in the residence hall. The members of this committee are studying constitutions from other colleges and universities.

Other committees which will be set up at a later meeting are orientation, finance, foods, homecoming, handbook, program, and activities committees.

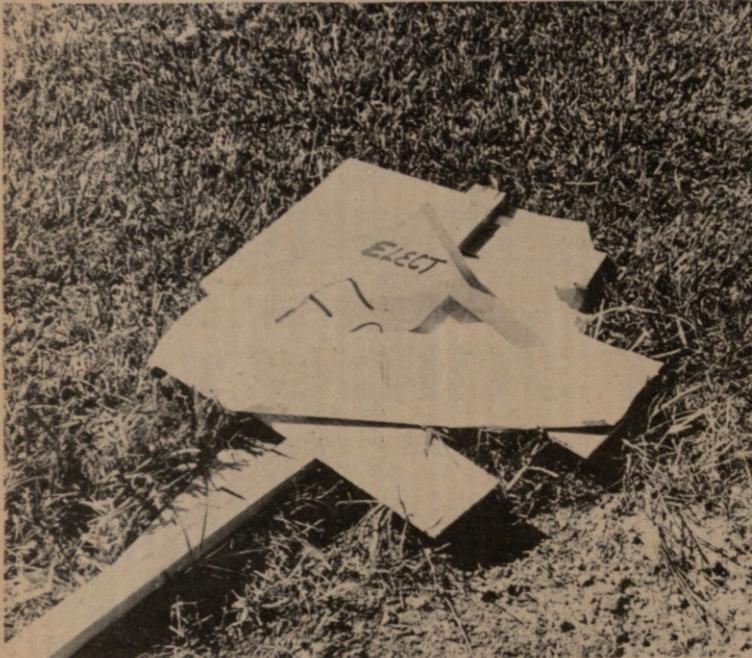

The council recently conducted a poll in the dorm and the girls voted in favor of both issues presented. They voted to pay $1 dues each semester. This money will be used for such things as decorations and parties. A majority of the girls also voted in favor of using the food service building for a study area for the girls on week nights from 7-10 p.m. This went into effect Tuesday, January 14.

After each council meeting, representatives will report to their floors what the council has done, and it is hoped that the girls who are not on the council will present any ideas or suggestions to them so that these ideas and suggestions can be reported to the council and acted upon.

THE NEW LAW — A statute governing campaign materials during elections was passed by the Student Congress last Monday. Although restrictive, it was obviously necessary. We hope students will profit from the lesson.

Letter to the Editor

Prophet Means Profit

ALTHOUGH there are a number of controversial issues on the ASC campus, one issue on which everyone agrees is the policy of the Prophet Food Company.

It seems that the Prophet Co. has the students of ASC over a barrel, a few staves of which I hope to loosen with my lone letter to the editor. As it stands, a student who resides on campus must pay board as well as room. Thus, since it is only with the greatest difficulty that a student can secure off-campus residence, he becomes a patron of the Prophet Food Co.

The chief complaints are:

Students who would prefer to eat off campus are forced to pay for food they would rather not eat. Many students go out of their way to avoid living in dorms to escape the Prophet Co.

Dispensers are often empty, especially when hamburgers and hotdogs are served. Soft drink dispensers are seldom adjusted to the right proportion of syrup and soda.

Desserts are allowed to sit out until they are so hard and dry that throwing them at someone could be an assault with a deadly weapon charge.

Foods are largely bland and tasteless due to the parsimonious use of spices.

The Prophet Co. should make a staggering profit for the following reasons:

Male dorm students loathe to get up and walk or drive all the way over to and back from the cafeteria in time for an 8 a.m. class.

Students who go home on the weekends are paying for food they never even see.

The Prophet Co. buys food in gross and thus saves itself a good deal of expense.

Furthermore, bulky starches such as potatoes, beans, bread, hominy, and potato chips, all of which are easy on the budget, are served copiously.

And the latest insult — checking I.D.'s at the door.

I am not a speech or journalism major intent on impressing my professor. I merely wish to make it abundantly clear that unless the Prophet Co. changes its attitude toward its goose that lays the Golden Egg or ASC changes its residence policy, I will keep an eye open for an institution more liberal and less mechanical in its restrictions on off campus residence.

Respectfully submitted,
Sandy Fry

TO CONTINUE RESEARCH

David Harlan Receives Welch Foundation Grant

DR. DAVID Harlan, associate professor of chemistry at Angelo State College, has received a $20,000 grant from the Robert A. Welch Foundation of San Antonio to continue research he has started into structural changes in acetylenic compounds.

Dr. Harlan started the research in May, 1967, under an original grant of $16,000 from the Welch Foundation. "Triple-Bond Migration in Alkynes" is title of the research project.

In the undertaking, Dr. Harlan is studying the molecular rearrangement that takes place as one acetylenic compound changes to another.

His goal is to "come up with something to add to the understanding of the bonding of atoms, or the bonding within molecules," the ASC chemist explained.

The molecular change takes place when one of the acetylenes is catalyzed by a strong base. As the reaction takes place, Dr. Harlan will analyze its product at regular intervals to determine the rate of change.

Mathematical analysis of the rate of change will provide some idea of how the acetylenic compound and the alkali are coming together and how the change takes place, Dr. Harlan said.

Currently working with hexynes, he plans also to study various other acetylenes.

Much of Dr. Harlan's grant will go for equipment and supplies, although the funds also will enable him to work on the project fulltime for part of the summer months. Student assistants and overhead also will be paid out of the grant, he said.

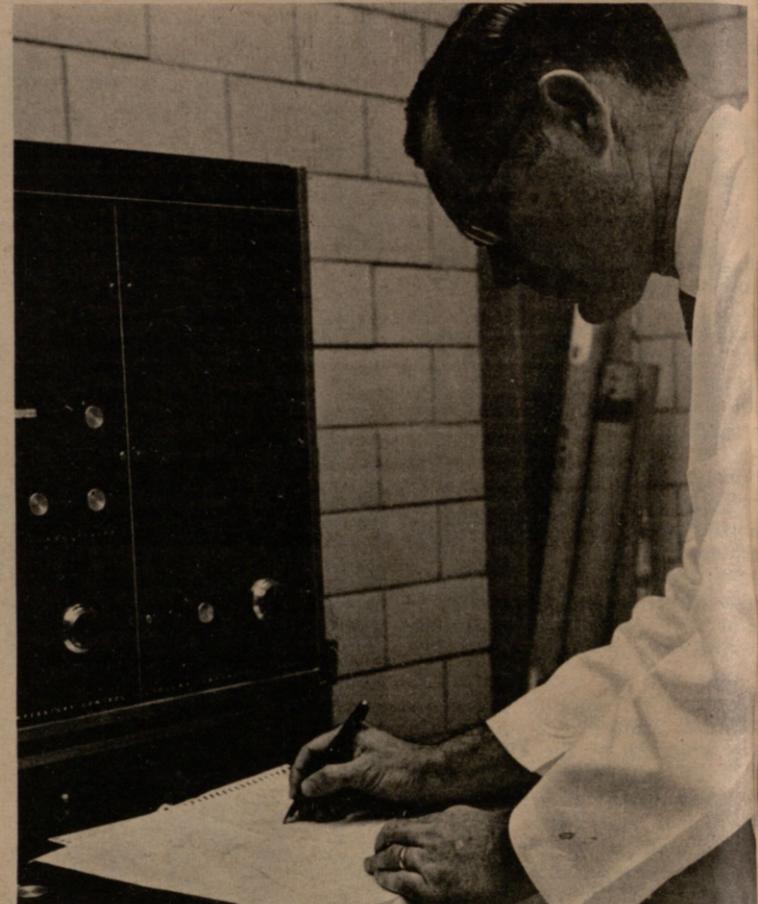

Harlan joined the ASC faculty in the fall of 1967. He holds the B. S. degree from the University of Texas, M. A. from Southwest Texas State College and Ph. D. from Baylor University.

The Robert A. Welch Foundation was established in 1954 by the will of the late Robert Alonzo Welch, Houston, who died in 1952. Mr. Welch said in his will that he desired to support chemical research, the results of which would benefit all of mankind.

Trustees of the foundation announced grants, including Dr. Harlan's, totaling $5,340,000. The grants involve 138 scientific investigators in the field of chemical research and 27 educational institutions. The foundation has approved more than $35 million in research since its inception, all in Texas.

Cellar Job Lonely For Night Operator

By GAY OHLENBURG
Ram Page Feature Editor

MRS. ROSE Mary Smith has the loneliest job on the campus.

The relief telephone switchboard operator, Mrs. Smith works from 4 to 9 p.m. — a lonely time in itself.

But making Mrs. Smith's job the "loneliest" is the fact that the switchboard is the only college operation left in the old administration building while the structure is being remodeled.

Adding to the isolation, workmen moved the switchboard from its normal main floor location and tucked it away in the basement of the old building, to clear the way for renovation.

"We thought we were going to get to move to the library," Mrs. Smith said, "but the telephone company said it would take 120 days to lay the cable over there."

So, down to the basement the equipment went, along with the operators, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Lorena McCleery, chief operator who works the daytime shift.

Jerry Stitts and Don Dietz alternate evenings as paid guardians. So far, there have been no incidents for the youths to prove their bravery, but Mrs. Smith said she is happy about that.

The switchboard is kept open Monday through Thursday evenings because of night classes, late-working faculty members and in case of emergencies, Mrs. Smith said.

Remodeling of the building is moving rapidly and when the work is finished, administrative offices will return to that location. The switchboard will be moved back to its main floor location, and Mrs. Smith won't need her bodyguards at night.

She pointed to Dietz eating his supper across the room.

"Isn't it silly for him to be 'babysitting' for someone old enough to be his mother," she laughed.

Honors Class Hears Second Tele-Lecture

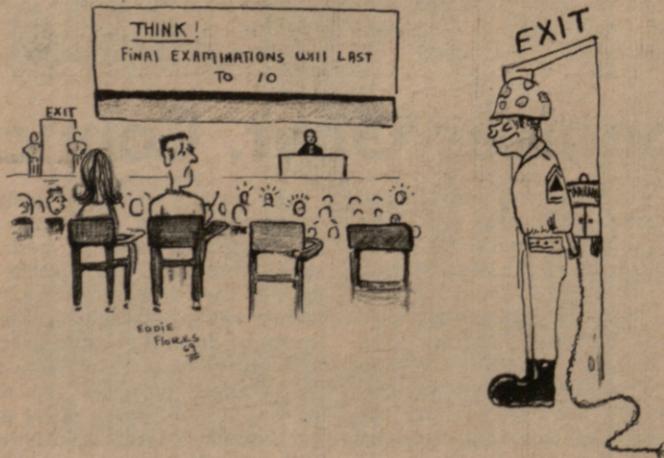

STUDENTS in Dr. James Wilson's freshman history honors section heard their second tele-lecture of the semester Wednesday when Dr. Joel Williamson, associate professor at the University of North Carolina, addressed them from Chapel Hill, N. C.

Williamson spoke on the "Origins of Segregation," title of a pamphlet he edited and which is one of the publications used in the history honors section this semester.

Earlier in the semester, the honors students heard Dr. Morton Borden, professor of history at the University of California, Santa Barbara, in a similar telephone lecture. Borden discussed Thomas Jefferson's major contributions to the American political system.

The lectures are delivered over a special telephone amplification system set up at ASC by General Telephone Company.

Dr. Williamson now is on leave from his teaching duties at the University of North Carolina to research and write a book on the general subject of race relations in the South from 1865 to 1915. His other most prominent book has been "After Slavery: The Negro in South Carolina During Reconstruction, 1861-1877," published in 1965 by the University of North Carolina Press.

Cagers Seek No. 9 Against Tech Foes

Shannon Signs GAFB Player

COACH CHARLEY Shannon's roundballers will be going after number eight in their last nine outings when they invade Lubbock to battle Southwest Conference toughie Texas Tech Saturday.

The Red Raiders will be bringing a five-and-six record into the fracas with a one-and-one conference mark.

In their last contest the Red Raiders downed Rice to even up their loop record. In the Rice game sophomore Clay Van Loosen pumped in 23 points as he hit on 10 of 14 attempts from the floor. Williams was the only other Raider in double figures with 15 points.

Against Rice the Raiders hit a sizzling 56.9 percent from the floor and had to stop a late Owl rally for the win. Tech had held a 14-point lead in the first half but the score was tied four times and the lead changed hands eight times in the second half.

The Rams will be looking to keep their hot streak going as they have knocked off seven of their last eight opponents. Laurin Prather will lead the Ram scoring attack as he has scored 108 points in the last four games. With this surge Prather has taken over the scoring lead with 251 points for an 18.1 average.

Three other Rams are averaging in the double figures with David Milburn scoring at a 15.6 pace while Richard Preston has put in 14.6 points per contest. Rusty Heskett is averaging 12.1 points per game to round out the double digit scoring.

LSC Bouts

Howard Payne, tied with Stephen F. Austin with a 3-0 loop mark will have a chance to take over the league lead as they host the Sul Ross Lobos Wednesday night. Austin, currently rated third in the national small college poll will have a chance to tie or take over the lead when they battle Sam Houston in Nacogdoches on Saturday night.

With half the season gone it looks as if this year will be a thriller in the LSC as no team can be singled out at this time. Stephen F. Austin, Howard Payne, McMurry, and Sam Houston all look very tough at this time. The conference winner will stand a good chance of going a long way in the national playoffs.

COACH Charley Shannon has begun to look ahead as the Ram basketball mentor has signed John Kubinsky to a basketball award.

Kubinsky, a 6'7" center, is from BelAir, Ohio and is stationed at Goodfellow Air Force Base. He plays on the Goodfellow basketball team and has played on several other Air Force squads including one overseas.

The tall Ohioan will be ineligible to play this year but will be in uniform next season when the Rams open play. He will enroll at ASC next semester in order to be eligible to compete the following year.

Kubinsky's height and ability should add plenty of strength to the Rams rebounding game as he will be a great asset on the boards.

Tennis Players To End Lull

MARCH first will see the reviving of tennis to Angelo State College as the Ram players go into Lone Star Conference action. The tennis program was done away with four years ago but with ASC's entry into the LSC the sport was brought back to the San Angelo campus.

It has been Coach Buddy Horne's job to rebuild the program and what a job he has done bringing in some of the best talent in the West Texas area.

This year's squad will play a ten-to-twelve game schedule with matches with Abilene Christian, Hardin-Simmons and Texas Wesleyan included with the meets with LSC foes. The Conference Tournament will be held May 8, 9 and 10 at Texas A&I. At this meet the team and individual champions will be decided. Matches up until this time will have no bearing on the loop title as home schedules have not been set up for this year.

Among the top members of this year's squad are two Central High School graduates, Charles Williams and Mike Broome. Williams, a senior, played in the 4-A State Tournament. Broome is a freshman and was one of 3 4-A's finest last year.

Several others who will be carrying a big load on this year's squad are Tommy McCulloch, a Wichita Falls freshman, Bill Watson, a Junction standout, and Woody Cunningham. Cunningham, from Sweetwater, was a 3-A state semifinalist in high school.

ASC will be sending players to compete in both male and female doubles and singles in this year's matches. This year will be a tremendous rebuilding year to revive a program that was done away with four years ago but managed to find its way back to ASC.

Two Ranger JC Players Gained

BOB Thacker and Jack Martin, both of Ranger Junior College, have indicated their intention to play Ram football next fall, according to Grant Teaff, ASC head football coach.

Thacker, a 6', 210 lb. offensive guard, and Martin, a 6'2", 195 lb. fullback, are expected to transfer at mid-term.

Both of the new members visited the campus last weekend with a group of fourteen other prospective recruits.

Teaff received the commitments Wednesday.

Baja Marimba Blends Latin Flavor In Show

By NELL FISCHER
Ram Page Staff Writer

WITH RICHLY decorated costumes, drooping moustaches, deadpan expressions, and more than likely bare feet, the Baja Marimba Band will empty their Mexicali-Bossa Nova sound on San Angelo, January 31, in the San Angelo Coliseum.

Under the sponsorship of the Angelo State Student Association, the three-year old group will be preceded by a performance by Mitzi McCall and Charlie Brill, better known as the Fun Couple on Rowan and Martin's "Laugh-In," starting at 8 p.m.

According to Beep Cain, association president, tickets are available at Model Radio, 2409 Sherwood Way, and the Student Association office, Student Center upstairs.

Cost for ASC students with activity cards is $1.00; other students, $2.00 and the public, $3.50. Married students are allowed to bring one dependent for the $1.00 price.

Invitations may be extended to surrounding colleges in the area including those in Abilene, Big Spring, Alpine, and Odessa, who will also receive the lower admission price of $1.00.

Dedicated to a happy, witty, rhythmical music, the nine-member group produces their unique sound by braiding a slow, lazy Latin beat with hard Dixieland.

The cigar-smoking, dead-pan band idea started in 1964 when Herb Alpert of the Tijuana Brass and his chief composer, Julius Wechter decided to round out a group to record Scotty Turner's song "Comin' in the Back Door." The eight musicians they found recorded the hit and from there organized the Baja Marimba band to roll into the spotlight.

Within two years, they became one of the most consistent instrumental album sellers in the world. By this time their comic Mexican tradition from colorful costumes (supposedly a take-off from non-existent Mexican dress) and subtle communication between players had been perfected.

This comic art with unique sound won them spots on several television shows including the "Roger Miller Special," Johnny Carson's "Tonight Show," Jerry Lewis' "Kraft Special," "Smothers Brothers," and "Hollywood Palace" shows.

Wechter, who had — and still does — played on every Herb Alpert session, is the leader. He also composes several of the songs for the TJB, including "Spanish Flea."

Other members include Curry Tjader, percussionists; Charles Chiarenza and Frank DeCaro on guitars; Bernie Fleischer, flute; Lee Katzman, trumpet; Dave Wells, trombone; Mel Pollen, bass and Frank Devito on drums.

The first three albums were "The Baja Marimba Band," "The Baja Marimba Band Rides Again" and "For Animals Only." In addition they have recorded several hits with the TJB.

The "fun couple" appearing with the Baja Marimba Band is a husband-wife team made of an outgoing type of person (Mitzi) who is countered by her pensive type husband that has been seen in several night club spots and television shows.

A-State Speaker Wins Third Place In Colorado Forensics Tourney

PAT HEADSTREAM, ASC forensics team member, captured a third place trophy in the oral interpretation division at the 23rd Annual Pike's Peak Invitational Forensics Tournament in Colorado Springs, Colorado last weekend.

Although Miss Headstream was the only team member to place in competition, all of the team members did well, according to sponsor, Miss Helen Schafer.

In the oral interpretation division, Carl Dodd entered finals and James Buchanan missed finals by only one team point. Jan

Brown also fell short of finals one point in the women's oratory section.

Ronnie Love and Miss Headstream won in junior debates against Southern Colorado State and the University of Colorado; they were defeated by one point by both California State and University of South Dakota.

The Senior team, composed of Dodd and Andy Kever, beat the University of Colorado. The squad from the University of New Mexico conquered the ASC team by one point; the U. S. Air Force Academy, by 3 points; and, the University of Wyoming, by seventeen points.

There will be an area high school forensics workshop sponsored by ASC the second weekend of February. Invitations will be sent out to Central and West Texas AAA, AA and smaller schools. Contest divisions in accordance with UIL, will be debate, interpretation and informative and persuasive speaking. Students may also enter duet acting, but not for UIL purposes. The objective of this workshop is to help prepare the smaller schools for the UIL contest.

ASC's forensic team will enter the areas of debate, oratory and extemporaneous speaking at the second annual tournament at the University of Houston February 20, 21 and 22.

Members are appointed for six year terms. The present terms run through January 10, 1975. Jerome Johnson will be committee chairman until the annual Board of Regents meeting in May of this year. At that time, a new Board president will also be elected. Present president is Emil C. Rassman of Midland.

Other local committee members are John H. Crooker, Jr., of Houston and J. C. Kellam of Austin.

Judge Heare, former committee chairman will visit ASC early in February to meet with Dr. L. D. Vincent, president of the college, and members of the planning committee. An official board meeting is set for Feb. 21.
