

April 6, 1945

Dear Mother,

Two letters came from you yesterday one of 2nd other [sic] of the 28th. Yesterday was the 5th that was the letter you put the stamp which was on one of my letters on. That was 16 days for the stamps to cross the atlantic twice. That was pretty good time.

I had a letter from Louis Love. She is getting along all right.

[page 2] Today seems like it is going to be a nice day as the sun has started to shine.

Julia owes me a letter also. Ask her to write next time you see her.

I have to close now and go to work so until next time.

Your son,
Tom